

CHECK DAMS

THEIR USE FOR FLOOD CONTROL
DISCUSSED BY CITY ENGINEER
LYNCH

Edward M. Lynch, City Engineer, is following with interest the investigations which are being made by Mr. Hamilton and other members of the Board of County Supervisors in regard to the efficacy of the "check dams" which were built in Haines Canyon and other parts of the county for the purpose of testing their efficiency in retarding the flow in mountain ravines and thus arresting floods.

Mr. Lynch does not believe that check dams will solve the flood problem, but he thinks they may help and declares that he is viewing the proposition with an open mind and is anxious to be shown. The season has afforded no adequate test of their value as yet. He inspected the dams built in the Haines Canyon and says he hopes they will prove to be all that has been claimed for them.

"The idea back of the check dam," says Mr. Lynch, "is the retarding of the water flow and the encouraging of the growth of trees and shrubs in ravines. The minute you can increase wild growth in such places, you have won half the battle, because the minute you get trees there the ground becomes more porous. The effect is retroactive. If you can encourage trees to grow on a hillside, the ground is opened up by the penetration of their roots and the moisture that is retained in turn encourages the growth of the trees. Vegetation is always heaviest on the north sides of hills because that is the side on which is the greatest amount of moisture.

"The dams will have a tendency to retard flow and prevent scouring and loss of water. Every drop of water we can hold in the mountains is so much gained."

While the construction of these dams in large numbers will run into money, Mr. Lynch thinks they will be well worth the cost if they do the work.

THE KNITTED SHIPMENT

On Tuesday Mrs. A. S. Chase packed 337 garments for the knitting department which have been itemized in the report of the shipment compiled by Mrs. Ezra Parker, chairman, and published elsewhere in this paper. These garments were all returned during the past three weeks and for the most part were knit with the heavy yarn received in the last shipment from San Francisco, which fact speaks volumes for the knitters of Glendale Chapter. Nothing daunted by its coarseness or the fact that it had to be thoroughly washed, the yarn was promptly taken and retaken and as promptly returned in wonderfully well made garments, a credit not only to the worker but to the fine spirit of service.

BRITISH SOLDIERS TO SPEAK HERE

The British Ambulance Society Membership Drive meeting to be held in the High School auditorium Thursday evening promises to be a very interesting and auspicious occasion. In addition to the speakers mentioned yesterday there have been secured, Rev. W. E. Edmonds of Glendale, Sergt. Major Mattier and Sergt. Bryson from the British Recruiting Office in Los Angeles. Both of these soldiers have recently returned from France and will relate some experiences of trench life. There will be a small exhibit of the different kinds of work done by the Society in charge of the president, Mrs. England. Everyone who can possibly do so is urged to attend this patriotic and unusual event.

REGISTER TOMORROW

Do you wish to vote at the city election April 8? If you have not registered since December 31, 1917, you will be denied the right to cast your ballot at that election, and Thursday, March 7, is the last day on which you may register to become eligible to vote at that time. Do it now. A list of deputy registrars is given in another column.

RECEPTION POSTPONED

The reception planned for tonight for Rev. W. E. Edmonds and his family has been postponed until next Wednesday, when it is hoped the weather will be more favorable.

RAINFALL

The very welcome rain which began about midnight Tuesday evening and which continued at intervals all night, had reached a total of 75-100 inches this morning at 7 o'clock. This made the total for the season in Glendale to that hour, 9.57 inches.

UNCLE SAM'S HELPERS

GILBERT A. COWAN WRITES DESCRIBING PREPARATORY DAYS IN ARMY LIFE

AN ATLANTIC PORT, February 26.—One, two, three, four; one, two, three, four; and down the new made street the aero supply squadrons marched on their way to France or some place else where they will take their posts in support of Uncle Sam's air fleet. It is a wonderful sight, seeing our boys "packing off" for "over there" with their beds on their backs in tight fitting packs which remind a person of a pack animal climbing up a California mountain trail.

Self sufficient is the soldier in the aero squadrons. With their bed, clothes, rations and side arms, besides a canteen of water and toilet articles, each and everyone leaves the United States ready to meet their men in combat while, strictly speaking, they will not go on the lines themselves. The big battle to be fought by the aero section is keeping the great fleet of airplanes up in the air.

With the fellow from Boston to keep records of parts, a California chauffeur to transport the stuff to the hangars in the field, and a Michigan mechanic to put them into a machine piloted by a Kentuckian, one can't help believing that America is in this war to a finish and to win.

At roll call this morning the guttural accent of the sergeant-truck-master from the sunny south (Georgia) was answered by the nasal Yankee "Hee," the Bostonian "He-ah," the central Eastern "yoe," and the other peculiarly accented voices of the whole country. From Alaska to Mexico, the supply squadron in which I am is a most representative bunch.

In my last letter, little or nothing was mentioned of the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. work here. The former is outfitting all of the fellows going out of the port with a complete knitted outfit and the latter is keeping them entertained. In fact, too much can not be said of the Y. M. C. A. activities. Commanding the attention of the youngsters, they have every squadron pitted against the other in athletic events and entertainment programs. Result, some shows. Writing material, stamps and banking facilities are also afforded by the "Y" for the busy soldier and it is sure a pleasure to drop into one of the "shacks," as they call their warm, comfortable auditoriums and reading rooms. On Sundays, both Catholic and Protestant services are held at the "Y" here, the K. C. and Y. M. H. A. not having established buildings here as yet.

While war has its degrading influences and throws many a young lad into contact with the world at a seemingly tender age, the morale of this branch of the service, at least, and all others I have come in contact with is splendid. In the majority of the cases, cutting out of booze, the regular hours, substantial food and lots of exercise, either drilling or working, is remodeling the Yankee physique and if the war is not too protracted, all parts of the country will benefit.

Especially will this be true of the West, for all of the eastern fellows—or at least a large percentage of them—are going to "go west" to gain fame and fortune. Verily, a prophet could see the arid fastnesses of Montana, Arizona, Idaho and interior California blossoming into

VARIETY IN SOLDIERING

The local Board of Exemption, in common with other Boards, is doing all that it can to fill up the ranks of the 319th Engineers, known as "The Pioneers." There is a chance for a great variety of work in this service which calls men for mining and construction, and which means men capable of doing road building, carpenters, pile drivers, riggers, transit and level men, surveyors, blacksmiths, mechanics, concrete and cement workers, clerks, stenographers, horseshoers, saddlers, wagoners, cooks, buglers, lumbermen, windlassmen, powdermen, pumpmen, etc.

Chairman Lanterman has written for details regarding the work which will be required of men who enlist for the Medical Department at Fort Riley and for Infantry and Coast Artillery Service at Fort McDowell, and as soon as received the information will be published for the benefit of men who are thinking of entering the army.

Index cards prepared by the teachers of Glendale have been forwarded to Washington and it seems likely that they will be tabulated according to the service to which the men listed thereon are best adapted to form the basis of calls to special work which the government may make.

If you wish to vote at the city election April 8, you must register before the close of the day tomorrow, March 7. Remind your neighbors and friends of this fact.

LENINE TRAITOR TO REVOLUTION

MESSAGE FROM AUTHENTIC SOURCE DECLARES BOL-SHEVIKI MINISTER WOULD DELIVER RUSSIA TO ENEMY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 6.—That Nicolai Lenine, Bolsheviki Prime Minister, is deliberately attempting to deliver revolutionary Russia into the hands of Germany, is the substance of a highly important communication received in Washington today from an unquestioned but confidential source. The communication showed also that Lenine simultaneously tried to arouse Russia against the militarism of the allies. This latest development in the ever-changing Russian turmoil is particularly significant in view of the Japanese threats in Siberia. The communication received here is in part as follows: "Lenine takes the stand that there must be no agitation against German militarism, but that agitation should be continued against the militarism of the nations at war with Germany. He is using every influence to have the new peace treaty between Germany and the Bolsheviki spokesmen obeyed in all particulars of non-interference with Germany."

ARMY OFFICERS WANTED FOR DESERTION

LIEUT. STANLEY FRED WALKER IS BEING SOUGHT BY CAMP LEWIS MILITARY AUTHORITIES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TACOMA, March 6.—The first National army officer to be charged with desertion so far as known at Camp Lewis is Second Lieut. Stanley Fred Walker, a graduate of the officers' training camp, Presidio, and a former architectural draughtsman and motion picture actor of Los Angeles. The police of Seattle have been asked to locate Walker for arrest by the military authorities on a charge of desertion and a second charge of passing worthless checks. His arrest is expected within a few days. According to the division judge advocate's office, Lieut. Walker obtained a leave of absence of ten days to visit his fiancée, who he said was dying at a small town near Los Angeles.

HAIG REPORTS SUCCESSFUL RAIDS

ACTIVITY ON THE BRITISH FRONT RESULTS IN PRISONERS AND CAPTURED MACHINE GUNS BY ENGLISH

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, March 6.—Raiding activity continued along the British front last night and early today, according to Field Marshal Haig's official report. "East of Bullecourt the English troops conducted successful raids this morning, taking prisoners and two machine guns," Haig stated. "Our casualties were slight. North of the Scarpe in the neighborhood of Lens we made successful raids last night. Southeast of Gouzecourt hostile raiders were repulsed. Additional prisoners and captured machine guns resulted from these encounters."

HOME LEGISLATURE CENSURES LA FOLLETTE

WISCONSIN ASSEMBLY PASSES RESOLUTION WITH AMENDMENT CONDEMNING SENATOR'S WAR ATTITUDE

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MADISON, Wis., March 6.—The Wisconsin legislature went on record today in condemnation of United States Senator Robert M. LaFollette's attitude with regard to the war. By a vote of 53 to 32 the Assembly this afternoon after a seventeen hours session adopted a loyalty resolution with an amendment censuring the Senator. The Senate adopted the resolution a week ago.

BRITISH CRUISER SUNK

The Calgarian was submarined off the Irish coast. Several torpedoes were fired at her. More than 300 survivors were landed Saturday at Larne.

PRACTICAL TALK

HIGH SCHOOL P. T. A. HEARS MRS. HAZZARD'S MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNMENT

A big and enthusiastic gathering more than filled the Art Lecture Room when the High School P. T. A. assembled there last Monday afternoon. Every seat and bench was filled and chairs had to be imported for the accommodation of late comers who wanted to hear Mrs. Jessica Hazzard, the chief speaker of the afternoon.

Just before her address, Prof. Harry L. Howe addressed the meeting in regard to the War Savings Drive which is being conducted this week.

Immediately following her talk, which the audience followed with absorbed attention, Miss Flood presented the report of the Employment Bureau of the school, stating that of ten boy applicants for work, eight had been placed. Eleven girls had asked for employment and eight had been provided for, but there still remained four or five girls who wanted to care for babies, and she recommended them to mothers in need of assistance of that kind.

Miss Lantz gave an outline of the work of the Domestic Science Course.

Mrs. Harry Greenwalt announced "a country store" the Saturday after Easter, where contributions in great variety would be sold for the benefit of the P. T. A.

Mrs. Nichols, the president, with great brevity spoke of the quarters on Broadway just opened for the work of the Junior Red Cross. She exhibited some samples of "relief garments" manufactured by the organization and asked for volunteers to assist in the preparation of work for the children.

In spite of the fact that it was later than usual when the meeting was adjourned, most of the ladies lingered for the cup of tea which was served in the hall and for the samples of tea cakes and other good things prepared by the girls of the Domestic Science Department; also to get the mimeograph copies of the recipes which they distributed.

Mrs. Hazzard's talk concerned food conservation, particularly wheat, and the reasons why the government is demanding this saving. "There is no way to transport wheat to the Allies from Australia," she declared, "for lack of ships. The government asks us to do without one cup of flour a week. The government does not send just enough to feed a certain number. Because of conditions on the high seas it must send four times the amount needed to meet the emergency. We should not think of this as sacrifice. We should do it because we have within our hearts the Christian spirit."

"The Italians are doing without and doing without and trying to make that wonderful drive on less than 7 ounces of bread a day. Their 'Victory Bread' is by no means what we are using. Ours has 66 2-3 per cent of wheat flour and we have besides so many other foods we can introduce into our dietary. "Besides wheat, the next vital thing happens to be fats. The government would like you to do without one tablespoonful of fat a day and get along with half a pound of butter a week. That will give you

CHINESE REBELS

ATTACK U. S. S. MONOCACY, ON WHICH GERALD J. CONRAD IS CHIEF GUNNER

The following letter from Gerald Conrad, son of Mrs. Louise Joseph, 1431 West First street, this city, should be of interest to her many friends here. Gerald, who is now in Chinese waters, entered the navy eight years ago and will complete his second term of service next June.

U. S. S. Monocacy, Jan. 22, 1918.

Dear Mother:

Just a few lines to let you know that I am O. K. and getting along great. You have probably heard about the trouble the Monocacy had. We sure had it hot and heavy for a half hour. One man was killed (O'Brien, H. L.) chief yeoman, one of my dearest friends, and two were wounded slightly. The official report is that we killed between 60 and 80 Chinese soldiers. Everything is quiet now and I expect to be home about June or July.

Well, will close for now, with my best love, from

GERALD CONRAD.

Please excuse the stationery.

Enclosed in the letter were printed extracts from the "Central China Post" of January 19, 1918, and January 21st, describing the fusillade and the funeral ceremonies over the body of Yeoman O'Brien. The account of the attack is as follows:

Monocacy Fusiladed

The American gunboat Monocacy, which left Hankow upward bound on the 14th inst., returned to port early on Friday morning with one killed and two wounded. The vessel was en route for Ichang and at nine o'clock on Thursday morning while passing Tamatsu, five miles below Kienli Hsien, she was suddenly and heavily fusiladed from the northern bank.

At this particular place the channel lies near the bank, which is topped by a great dyke. The attacking party were hidden behind this with only the tops of their heads visible as they fired. The weather was perfectly clear and the Monocacy had two large American flags flying, but fire was opened on her without the slightest warning. She could neither stop nor turn till another part of the river was reached three miles ahead, and for the whole distance, during the space of half an hour, rifle fire was kept up. Chief Yeoman H. Le Roy O'Brien was shot dead and two of the crew were wounded. The war vessel returned the fire, but it was impossible to say what result on the invisible targets. She was struck with bullets over 80 times.

On turning round and proceeding to come back the firing ceased, but it was recommenced on the Japanese steamer Tayuna which came down stream a little afterwards, but fortunately without anyone being hurt. The attacking parties are believed to be the independent troops from Shasi who have taken possession of this part of the country. It will be interesting to see, now that the ships of the United States and Japan as well as those of Great Britain are be-

DEATH OF H. C. FENSTERMAKER

The many friends of H. C. Fenstermaker of 145 South Central avenue, will be grieved to learn of his death Monday evening at 11:45 o'clock after a month's illness. Pneumonia was the cause of death and he made a brave struggle against disease, for his life had been a very happy one, shared as it was by a wife who was his companion and chum in all his enterprises. As they have no children, she is left by his death very much alone, but is striving to bear her great loss with the bravery her husband would wish her to exhibit. He was a quiet, unostentatious man, devoted to his home and greatly beloved by all with whom he was brought into association in his business and social life.

He was an "Independence Boy," born July 4th, 1859, in Mount Joy, Pennsylvania, where he grew to manhood and where his brother and two sisters still reside. For many years he was engaged in a special line of newspaper work which took him to many cities of the United States and made of him a thorough cosmopolitan. About twelve years ago he and Mrs. Fenstermaker came to California and for the past five years they have made their home in Glendale, where his widow, Mrs. Kate Kahle Fenstermaker, hopes to remain.

Funeral services will be deferred for the arrival of Mrs. Fenstermaker's brother, Phillip Kahle, of Altoona, Pennsylvania, and will probably not take place until Saturday, March 9th.

THE VILLAIN OF THE PLAY

"I don't know who made the Kaiser," says Harry Lauder, "but God knows he made a bad job of it." Did he? The answer depends on the purpose of the making. If that purpose was to produce a World-Destroyer, a Drencher of Hearths with Mothers' Blood, an Attila plus Dynamite, the job was a brilliant success. To say that it was a failure because the product is vile is like saying that the actor who plays the part of the villain is a failure because he plays it like a villain. Under such a system of criticism as that, the villain should be played like a Christian gentleman. That, in truth, would be a failure. We cannot fathom the purpose which brought William II into being, but he is a success—as what he is. Much ink has been poured since this war began, we doubt not many prayers have been wrung from godly hearts fainting with sorrow, in the endeavor to find a purpose for the war and its horrors, its appalling destruction, its reversal of progress, its wreck and despair of every hope of a world that thought it was growing better. That riddle cannot be answered. But the figure of the Transcendent Villain becomes more ghastly supreme with every blow of every U-boat, with every temple of art bombed with fire and death, with every fresh enslavement, every new and deadly betrayal of innocent peoples. It is to be feared that the Kaiser is one of the greatest successes in constructive character—such as the character is—in the history of mankind.

After all, perhaps the best working theory of the existence of the Kaiser is the dramatic one which we have already suggested. A world-tragedy is staged. It is grievous, dark. It is an exhibition of evil passions. Just as in the pattern of tragedies, "Macbeth," the good lover, the wholesome gentleman, is plunged by his ambition into first one crime and then another, and so on to his inevitable doom, so, in this tremendous tragedy which we are acting, this good idealizing world is seen falling step by step into seas of blood. The ordinary drama of the theatre, which intimates as best it can the creative function working in the world, is but a shadow of this awful cosmic tragedy that is enacting. We are all but fulfilling the mighty artistry of the Dramatist. At this moment our attention is directed by the unfolding of the tragedy upon the villain's part, which surpasses all other villain work by as much as the scale of the drama surpasses all others. We are compelled to admit that he plays the part exceedingly well.

And all we can do is to wait and see how the mighty tragedy comes out. We may have faith that it will unfold according to some noble purpose of the Dramatist. Yet we are but the actors, each playing his little part. We cannot assume the function of the spectator at all. That is left for the generations of the future, if humanity shall be left upon the earth. Least of all is the function of the critic open to us. We bear our spears, of steel or of tinsel. But as the villain passes up and down and on his way to slay, we have at least the supernumerary's privilege of hating him.

PORK BAN LIFTED

On direct orders from the United States Food Administration at Washington, the food conservation program for California was revised and modified Monday by Ralph P. Merritt, Federal food administrator for the state, regarding the "porkless" days and the consumption of meats and beef as follows:

"Porkless" Saturdays eliminated, effective at once, for a period of ninety days. Hereafter all pork products may be consumed by the public, served in public eating places, such as clubs, hotels and restaurants, and sold by butchers, grocers and trades handling it, on SATURDAYS.

"Porkless" Tuesdays will be observed as in the past with modifications. Pork to be consumed under the new definition for the next ninety days means HAM, BACON and LARD and other CURED products ONLY. Fresh pork, sausage and trimmings may be sold and consumed as desired on TUESDAYS.

All restrictions on the consumption of mutton and lamb have been removed in California temporarily.

The observance of one MEATLESS and one PORKLESS meal each day has been suspended indefinitely.

The new rulings were made primarily because of a present adequate supply of meats and fresh pork products for shipment to the Allies; to encourage increased hog production in California and in order that the conservation program for the present could be CONCENTRATED on the saving of wheat products. The wheat saving program remains unchanged. Mondays and Wednesdays to be wheatless, with at least one wheatless meal, the evening meal, each of the other days.

It is probable that the former meatless Tuesdays in California will not be restored beginning March 13, as had been planned. Definite decision on this point will be announced later.

The sugar saving program remains unchanged.

TEA PARTY

Mrs. Pixley, of 1216 Lomita avenue, gave a tea in honor of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Brockett of Topeka, Kansas, and the ladies and friends of the West Glendale church on Tuesday afternoon. About thirty ladies were present in spite of the rain. A short program was given. Readings by Mrs. A. B. Morrison and Miss Olive Pixley, the latter from Rev. Robert Burdette's charming new book, and Mrs. Hayes of Blanche avenue. Refreshments on the Hoover line (which is generally known as tea or coffee, sandwiches and cake) were served and everybody declared they had had a delightful time.

BRITISH AMBULANCE TEA

The afternoon tea and musicale given by the British Ambulance Society Monday afternoon at the Tavern was a decided success socially and financially and proved the growing popularity of these delightful and informal little entertainments. The entire tea committee acted as hostesses, Mesdames Hornsey, Pack and Malley and Miss Whitaker. A dainty tea was served. The rooms were artistically decorated with acacia blossoms and a large number of guests were present. Mrs. Alice Crawford Fawcett of Pasadena, a pupil of Madame Shank, with her delightfully sweet and well-trained voice gave two brilliant numbers, displaying fine technique and poetic feeling. She responded generously to the encores received. She was very ably accompanied by Miss Ella Warriner. The piano was kindly loaned for the occasion by Mr. Salyer. The proceeds of this tea and those to follow will be devoted to the purchase of wool for knitting, a branch of the work the society has hitherto been unable to undertake.

PATENTEE CANNOT FIX PRICES

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Decreases limiting the rights of a patentee under the patent laws to control the resale price of an article were rendered today by the Supreme Court.

A patentee, the court held, cannot, in selling his article to another, reserve the right by contract to fix the price at which it is later to be resold.

This interpretation of the patent laws was made by the court in answering questions certified by the lower courts in injunction proceedings restraining the Boston Store of Chicago from selling records, in violation of a contract made with the American Graphophone Company for less than official list prices.

The opinion is of vital importance, affecting not only 5000 dealers in graphophone records, bound by similar contracts, but also thousands of dealers in many other articles, the re-sale prices of which are fixed by the manufacturers.—Exchange.

Mrs. A. M. Beamon, of 245 South Maryland avenue, who for many months was a tireless worker for the Red Cross, and who suffered a physical breakdown in consequence of excessive activity in that cause, was taken Saturday to Thornycroft Hospital and underwent an operation Sunday morning. Reports from there state that she is doing nicely and expects to be well enough to return to her home in about two weeks. Mrs. Beamon has the sincere sympathy of many friends and co-workers, who deeply regret the penalty she has been forced to pay for her zealous indiscretion.

NEBRASKANS, TAKE NOTICE

On next Saturday, March 9th, all former residents of Nebraska and their friends are cordially invited to attend an all-day state picnic and reunion at Sycamore Park, Los Angeles. All Nebraskans under whose eye this notice may chance to fall are urged to pass the word to their friends and acquaintances so we may have as large an attendance as possible.

24 pats of butter and one pat should fill two level teaspoons.

"You are to remember, however, that the children must have butter to the exclusion of other fats and as butter, cream and milk contain the growing food for children, they must have a certain per cent in their dietary. Let us not repeat conditions abroad where thousands of children are dying of incipient tuberculosis traceable to absence of fat in the dietary. This is a government warning to remember the children and save them at any cost, because if war continues our boys may not come back."

"Another message from the government is: 'Keep the children off the streets.' Know where your daughters are, keep them with you and keep them at home. 'Know, also,' the Government says, 'where your boys are, because there is something abroad in the land and we must watch our children.' The government wants you to have your children return home from school when their duties are over."

"Besides the wheat and the fat, the government wants you to save on sugar, which is an energy-giving food necessary to those who are fighting. We have been using between 80 and 90 pounds per capita a year. In France and England in times of peace people were getting along with 11 pounds of sugar per capita a year. The government wants you to use 3 pounds per capita per month. That will give you 3 3-7 tablespoons full in your daily dietary."

A SIN THAT IS UNFORGIVABLE

In speaking on the subject, "The Unforgivable Sin" at the Occult Science of Christ Church, Glendale, Sunday, Rev. Wm. A. Goetz said in part:

Text: Matthew XII:31, "Wherefore I say unto you all, All manner of sin and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men, but blasphemy against the Holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men."

Understanding that the Holy Ghost of the Hebrew Prophet simply means Truth whosoever you may find it, and in regard to all nature and all individuals whether on this plane or another we begin to get some light on the subject. Let there be light, for we need it. I have even met people who did not believe in spiritualism and said there were no ghosts; whose idea of the Holy Ghost was a white-robed spirit who should whisper to them and to their own church particularly all things whichsoever they wanted to know but refused to haunt the rest of the world and reveal knowledge unto them. If it were true that after death there were one long sleep, Jesus and the prophets would wake out of that sleep to contradict such a narrow interpretation of a great Divine Truth. The Spirit of Truth is another name for Universal Knowledge and in the Universal Mind the knowledge of all things exists and may be revealed to any mind that will be still and in the prayer of faith, desire truth. If it is an unforgivable sin to deny truth then most of the world are sinners. They refuse to state what they know about this life or the life to come for fear of ridicule. And now the question comes, who will refuse to forgive the denial of truth, and I answer, "You yourself." When you wake up out of that old sleep and realize what you have done for yourself by this denial, you will be your own judge and jury and refuse acquittal, and will know that whatsoever you have sown that shall you also reap and the reaping is not always pleasant. Every religion of the world hopes there is a conscious life beyond this physical expression and speaks vaguely of Heaven and their hope to dwell there. Then ask them if they are investigating through every means within their power this future state of life and some will answer you truthfully no. They are the stupid ones who are mentally asleep. Others evade the question or deny it wholly, being a denial of truth, for there is not one person out of ten who has not had some experience of his own that does not reveal to him positive evidence of a world unseen by mortal eye. Ask them if they believe the words of Jesus Christ and they say yes; ask them if they believe it possible for anyone to do these things which He did in His earth life and the answer is, no. That is a denial of Truth somewhere. Either they do not believe the word of Christ Jesus or are ignorant of the fact, "These things that I do, shall ye do also and even greater things shall ye do because I go to the Father." There is a denial of Truth right there, either in one statement or the other. Facts are facts and the Law is Eternal. Look carefully into your own life and see that you are not denying the Truth either

Yeoman O'Brien's funeral is arranged for Sunday, when the service will be held in St. John's Church at half past four in the afternoon.

Funeral of Yeoman O'Brien

The body of Chief Yeoman O'Brien, who was shot dead during the attack on the "Monocacy" by Chinese soldiers on Thursday, near Kienli Hsien, was buried yesterday in the International Cemetery. The funeral service was held in St. John's Church at half past four in the afternoon. There were present the officers and crews of the gunboats "Monocacy" and "Kinsha," the Consular and Municipal authorities of the various Concessions; American, British and Russian volunteers in uniform, and a large number of residents, including ladies. The Church was crowded out till there was barely standing room, and the service, which was conducted by the Chaplain, the Rev. L. B. Ridgley and the Rt. Rev. Bishop Roots, was deeply solemn and affecting.

It was the usual funeral service, in the course of which the Chaplain delivered a short address in which he spoke of the high estimation in which the Chief Yeoman was held by all who knew him; of his fine character as a man, and the great popularity which he enjoyed on board ship. He expressed the sympathy which all felt for his bereaved wife and family, and the deep regret at his untimely death. The hymns, "Rock of Ages" and "Jesus Lover of My Soul," were sung with great feeling, and many of the "Monocacy" men were in tears.

The cortege then proceeded to the Cemetery, being swollen en route by the French police and by a large body of volunteers who were drawn up at the Race Course gates. The ceremony at the grave was brief; the firing party from the "Monocacy" gave three volleys, the last post was sounded and the largest funeral gathering ever seen in Hankow dispersed, all being sad of heart at the untoward happening and hoping that Yeoman O'Brien will not have died in vain should the sad event help in the direction of putting an end to the present state of confusion in China.

fields of farms with the best and most modern improvements. The boys from the Pacific slope have an edge on the Easterners, I believe, for they are used to things on a big scale. Nothing stops 'em and they usually get what they go after regardless of the red tape tied around it.

During the past few days, I have been enjoying (?) the mumps with a bunch of other unfortunates. Very funny feeling, don't you know. What is worse, you really feel like an old English gentleman who has that beefy look of gout, and the gout has nothing on the mumps if you have them right. I had them "left" and "right," thank the Lord. To entertain us the isolation ward was blessed, yea, verily, with a theologian, an accordion and several decks of cards besides a pair of Ethiopian national emblems—"bones." More fun is to be had around an isolation ward than out of Jean Nott's cartoons in the city papers. For more information on the mumps, I refer you to a 1917 number of the Saturday Evening Post in which one of our foremost funsters told all of the joys and pains of the pest.

Speaking of "chow," a fellow really can't speak authoritatively for it's so different from what he has been used to. We used to get a little side dish of beans or peas at the restaurant, and now we get a platter full. It used to be a "small black" and now it's a half pint or better of "Java." And prunes—oh, boy! As one fellow expressed it, "Prunes sure does make my 'innards' buzz." They are the national health food of the army and save much medicine. Apple sauce goes along with pork and cooked cereals feature the breakfast menus. The big difference between chow in the army is that you go through a cafeteria and put a little—or rather big—portion of everything on the same plate. Also, there is no cash register—or pretty cashier—to send you out the door with a toothpick and a smile. Instead, you have to hustle up and wash your dirty mess kit and be ready for the next bit of work.

Work is the principal occupation of the army and any of the "boys at home" going over town at night and generally enjoying themselves who don't think the "Samsons" earn their dollar every day are badly mistaken. In fact, one fellow said you got your pay for being a soldier and did the work out of patriotism. I am inclined to believe he's right.

I know boys who never chauffeured anything but a Chalmers or Franklin who have learned how to handle a wheelbarrow, and farmers who never did any real work who are learning how to break sod with a pick and shovel. And one of the champion Iowa hay stackers and also California farmers is my immediate boss. But he had worked in a bank and believe me the bank clerks sure do get up and on. Seibert Leidy, a Bakersfield friend and bank clerk, is a mess sergeant in an adjoining squadron. A bank clerk in the army is what a lawyer is in politics.

I am sure glad to hear of the home boys getting on and up in the army game. They say lots of commissioned officers will come from the ranks "over there." And lots of the boys are fitted for the jobs, too. We have university graduates, construction captains and others on our roster. It's this class of fellows whose ingenuity is going to put old Hindenburg on the blink and dent Wilhelm's tin coronet and send the Hohenzollerns to Hel-ena or hotter and bring order out of chaos.

These are observations, very much opined, but the Yanks are getting up and on at this war game and when in fighting trim George Cohan's song "Over There" will be only a shadow compared to the reality of our 10,000,000 strong. With the submarines outwitted finally, the aero sections will write "Finis" over the reichstag in Berlin in the same manner that Kate Stimson bade "Good-bye" to Los Angeles a week ago and the fliers of the U. S. A. will be the guardian angels of the peace over the hotbed of autocracy. I thank you for your kind attention. I must get busy and do something for my dollar and country tonight.

And a final word, folks. Follow Arthur Train's advice in the Saturday Evening Post and do your share in this war work. We all have to concentrate on the same thing. Let's make the Kaiser look sick.
